

Program

What's the Nordic way concerning cannabis?

Recent developments in control, policy and treatment

Time: 25 April 2018 13.00-16.00

Place: Nordic Culture Point, conference room Ting, Kaisaniemenkatu 9, Helsinki

Moderator: Aarne Kinnunen, deputy director, Ministry of Justice, Finland

13.00-13.10 Welcoming words and notes about the use of cannabis in the Nordic countries

Nina Rehn-Mendoza, deputy director, Nordic Welfare Centre

13.10-13.30 Patterns of cannabis use and control policies in Iceland

Helgi Gunnlaugsson, professor, University of Iceland

13.30-13.50 When cannabis is a big problem: youth in outpatient cannabis treatment in Sweden.

Mats Anderberg, PhD, Linnaeus University, Sweden

13.50-14.10 An early intervention for young cannabis users - a Finnish approach

Karin Rantala, education coordinator, EHYT Finnish Association for Substance Prevention

14.10-14.30 Coffee

14.30-14.50 Preventing relapse into drug crime through motivational talks. A randomized-control-trial at a drug scene in Stockholm.

Mia-Maria Magnusson, police inspector and doctoral student, Malmö University, Sweden

14.50-15.10 Cannabis in the legal system and in police work in Norway

Paul Larsson, professor, The Norwegian Police University College

15.10-15.55 Panel discussion: What's the Nordic way concerning cannabis?

Helgi Gunnlaugsson, professor, University of Iceland

Karin Rantala, education coordinator, EHYT

Paul Larsson, professor, The Norwegian Police University College

Per Ole Träskman, professor emeritus, Lund University

15.55-16.00 Concluding remarks and thank you www.nordicwelfare.org/cannabisseminar2018

#nordiccannabispolicy

